Katja Brandis' world of shapeshifters in young adult fiction: epic, gripping, highly emotional. Bestseller material by the champion of the fantasy world

In the jungle kingdom of Elámon, shapeshifters are worshipped like deities. One of them is the young jaguar shapeshifter Kitana, who lives a carefree life with her family in the temple. Until the day when the high priest hatches a plot that destroys Kitana's idyllic world and forces her to seek help from the darkest depths of the jungle. Driven further and further into a corner, Kitana asks for help from a pack of panther shapeshifters who live in a remote area of the jungle and are very suspicious of jaguars as well as humans. When she meets the wild and unpredictable panther boy Ecco, everything changes for Kitana.

- A must for adolescent walker fans.
- Powerful themes, great love story, breathtaking settings.
- Shapeshifting fantasy in the breathtaking setting of the rainforest.

The days of humans are numbered. But they don't realize it

A power cut throws the whole world into chaos. Two years later, the consequences are still massive. The inescapable conditions caused by inadequate resources and overcrowded towns force Lena and her family to seek refuge in a settlement for dropouts. Here she meets her old classmate Ben. When the two of them find out that the power cut was only the start of a much bigger plan, they have to make a decision: should they stay in the safety of the settlement, or embark on the difficult and dangerous task of saving humankind from a power whose existence is not even suspected by anyone else?

- A riveting, action-packed story of survival.
- Humankind is on the verge of destruction: finite resources, a broken-down infrastructure, and a devious government.
- The new book by adventurer and best-selling author Thomas Thiemeyer – relentless, gripping and action-packed.

Charly's trip to Australia in search of her own identity as she travels towards her true self

Charly only wants to get away from the gilded cage of life with her parents. And so she buys a ticket to Australia and gets herself a job – but no sooner has she arrived than a skater steals all her savings. All the same, she is absolutely determined to be happy, even without money: in the park with the guitarist, or on trips with Atlas, the boy with special needs that she looks after. Even with the charming Will, who epitomizes the old world she hates so much, she feels at ease. However, when she falls in love with the park busker Josh, while at the same time Will promises her a glittering future, she realizes that happiness has many different facets.

- The moving encounter with a special boy.
- When the choice between two boys is not a matter of love but a question of one's own inner freedom.
- Charly's trip to Australia in search of her own identity as she travels towards her true self.

Together with a dolphin you will save the world

Sandra can think of nothing more boring than training to work in a bank. And so she immediately seizes the opportunity when offered a job as a diver in a Florida dolphin team. Far away from Germany, Sandra – together with her dolphin partner Caruso – gets to know the new environment, learns the common language, and prepares to carry out her work in the sea. But on her very first mission with Caruso, she finds herself in danger: the salvage ship Antares is searching for the silver cargo of a sunken Spanish galleon, but a much bigger problem than the search is the strange behaviour of the people on board the ship. By the time she finds out the cause, it's almost too late.

- By best-selling author and dolphin whisperer Katja Brandis.
- The perfect book for people who like to travel, keen divers, and genuine animal lovers.

Magical, gripping, and tragically romantic – simply perfect for fantasy fans!

Lita has made one line of the prophecy come true: She has brought death to the living and thus set in motion the end of the world. More and more people disappear. The thread of their respective fates has been cut and only their shadows remain in the streets of London.

Lita knows that she must stop at nothing if she is to bring these people back. She is given support by Rukar, in whom she places more and more trust. But is it possible that as someone of mixed race and son of an immortal, he too is involved in the plot to end the world? Only the immortal Jin wants the world to end in flames. He is prepared to do anything in order to finally escape from his own endless existence.

- A brilliant urban fantasy set in modern London.
- The magical fight against fate continues relentlessly.

The continuation of the brilliant urban fantasy series set in modern London

The threads of fate are falling apart, and the Tree of Fate has been poisoned. With its death, humans also die, and a rebirth is needed – as quickly as possible! Very few are able to divert the end: Lita travels with Zara, Rukar and Tegan into the world of beyond. They must break the curse which has affected the threads of fate, and plant a new Tree of Fate. However, this exposes Zara to deadly danger, and Tegan is not showing all her hand, because for her the end of the threads of fate is too attractive a prospect. Lita is prepared to give everything for a new beginning. And by the time Rukar realizes the sacrifice she will make, it is already too late...

- Strange but at the same time familiar = a world which is so closely interwoven with our own that it is to determine the fate of humanity.
- The nerve-jangling finale to our fantasy mini-series.

The story of the Bienmann Family: Four dynasties – four sections of German history. In his four-part saga, the renowned and often awarded writer Willi Fährmann illustrates the 20th Century from a very special perspective. Whether the wave of emigrations to America, the era after the First and during the Second World War or the wave of refugees from East Prussia – Willi Fährmann paints the picture of a family's destiny that is exemplary for so many others.

Russia at the end of the 18th century: young, adventurous Timofej Tutalew travels from Omsk to distant Nischnij-Novgorod in order to purchase a precious Nikolaus icon for a wealthy businessman. Arriving finally at his destination after a long trip full of adventures and dangers, Timofej isn't about to give away the money that was entrusted to him. He steals the magic painting, keeping the money for himself. The icon, however, possesses a strange power from which Timofej cannot escape – and the painting thief begins to change...

At the end of the 19th century in a small town on the Rhine River, an innocent family is deprived of their existence because of unfounded hate and prejudices. The town is roused from its everyday routine – a child has been murdered. As the criminal is not immediately found, a few mean-spirited people point the finger of suspicion at the Jewish livestock dealer Waldhoff. A veritable witch hunt begins, where even the good-willed people watch in silence in their cowardice. Only a half-grown boy dares to swim against the stream; he clings to his unshakable friendship with the son of the accused.

Emilia has a list of special dreams: she wants to learn to play the piano, go to a concert, or simply know how the rain sounds. Behind each of these points, however, is a big challenge, because Emilia is almost deaf. That coincidence makes her encounter Nick, seems like a bad joke to her, because the boy with the crooked grin shows much more interest in parties than in music. But while Emilia pursues her dreams, the two meet again and again - and it seems that both Nick's loud and Emilia's silent world are not so far apart ...

Lea's life consists of numbers, rituals and strict rules. Jay's life consists of girls and partying. As soon as Lea moves into the apartment Jay shares with two other boys, she starts to arrange everything she can lay her hands on in a tidy manner – so that her three co-residents find their possessions in 23 neatly labelled cartons. Jay's mates agree that the girl with the big eyes and those strange counting rituals has to leave. But how to tell her that she has to move out? And does Jay really want that, too ...?

Kerstin Gier's Timeless Love Trilogy has become a true phenomenon. The author managed to write herself into the hearts of her female readers, young and old alike, in no time. Hundreds of thousands of fans followed Gideon and Gwendolyn's outrageous adventures throughout the centuries. Week after week Smaragdgrün (Emerald Green) as well as Rubinrot (Ruby Red) and Saphirblau (Sapphire Blue) sell in numbers that usually make up the whole published lot. All three were on SPIEGEL Bestseller List for months. Our competitors are emerald green with envy!

The Timeless Love Trilogy is thrilling, funny and sooo romantic at the same time. One day, fifteen-year-old Gwen finds out that she has a time travel gene and jumps back unexpectedly in time. And she finds out that she isn't the only time traveller; there is actually a whole secret society in London. And then she finds out that one of the time travellers is very attractive and cute: Gideon. But falling in love isn't that easy when you jump back and forth in time and have to fulfil a dangerous mission in the 18th century.

At her new boarding school, Katrina must do two things: find some friends, and go riding. But both are out of the question. She has sworn never to sit in the saddle again, and she is simply not ready to make new friends. Not after everything that has happened. Even when she meets Raven, the untamed palomino who refuses to obey any command, Katrina abides by her decision. All the same, she wants to be with him, because Raven gives her back something she thought she had lost forever: the feeling of freedom and of being truly alive. But Raven is not the only influence that gradually brings Katrina out of her melancholy. There is also Henry. This boy presents more of a challenge to her than anyone else, and he won't give up trying to find her secret.

His world is that of the Royals – full of scandals and secrets. Falling in love with him was never part of her plan. Their paths cross at the royal stud farm...

Greta just wants to get away: away from her school and away from the friends who have so endlessly disappointed her. The holiday job at the royal stud farm comes at just the right time for her. She might not have any interest in horses – and even less in princes and princesses – but the royal family's palace still makes her heart beat faster. But on the very first day she quarrels with Edward, the horse trainer. He guesses that she is hiding a secret and wants to do whatever it takes to bring it out in the open. When, shortly afterwards, Prince Tristan appears at the stud farm, Greta's life is completely turned upside down.

In the near future, your life depends on your happiness. Anyone who is happy is fine. Anyone who is not faces the threat of death. In just 72 hours. All her life, 16-year-old Gemma has been happy – unlike her father, whose level is sinking lower and lower. For his sake, Gemma must study at the Academy at all costs, the place where you can learn to produce happiness artificially. Among all the laugh-yourself-silly people she meets there, she is particularly attracted to Keno. He is regarded as a border-crosser who wants to get away from compulsory happiness. By his side, Gemma learns what true feelings are – and what people have to sacrifice if they regard happiness as the be-all and end-all of life.
